CONTEXT

The Department of Literature, Film, and Theatre Studies was one of the foundational departments in the University of Essex and is an exciting, interdisciplinary Department, where theory and practice across a range of disciplines from creative writing to theatre, literature, filmmaking and journalism thrive alongside each other.

Our Multimedia Journalism BA course, which launched in 2015, is accredited by both the National Council for the Training of Journalists and the Broadcast Journalism Training Council. The programme encourages and enables students to develop a sophisticated conceptual model of the news media industry and its place in society alongside advanced practical skills. Therefore recent, senior experience of practice within the profession of journalism is required.

The post-holder will be expected to design and deliver research-led modules, as well as to teach on existing modules and to lead students towards success in NCTJ and BJTC examinations and News Days. The successful applicant will contribute to the development of an MA in Journalism, and to a postgraduate research environment in Journalism. The willingness and desire to contribute to the wider, multi-disciplinary Department of LiFTS – via interest/expertise in Creative Writing, Film, Literature or Drama - would be welcomed. Applicants will also need to contribute to the 2021 Research Excellence Framework so will need to have a strong track record of appropriate publications and research.

KEY RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE POST

- To contribute expertise and knowledge to departmental and/or institutional initiatives as directed by their Head of Department.

MAIN DUTIES OF THE POST

- To complete, within their probationary period (usually three years), a recognised higher education qualification or recognition process aligned with Descriptor 2 of the UKPSF (e.g. Fellowship of the Higher Education Academy).
- To contribute to faculty and departmental quality assurance procedures and quality enhancement initiatives to ensure that teaching and learning support meets the standards expected within a research-led university.
- To work as part of the Journalism team to ensure that the course continues to deliver value to students.
- To help develop and deliver a relevant and up-to-date multimedia curriculum, which combines the demands of practical Journalism with a research-led approach to the subject.
- To teach Journalism students across the full range of the curriculum, with a particular emphasis on the practical skills associated with a modern multimedia newsroom.
- To help prepare students for NCTJ exams, to play an active role in BJTC Newsdays and to help satisfy both bodies' accreditation requirements.
- To maintain current knowledge of and contacts within the contemporary Journalism industry.
- To contribute to the development of the Journalism programme as appropriate.

- To produce research outputs for publication at acceptable levels of volume and academic excellence and disseminate the result of research and scholarship through appropriate Knowledge Exchange activities (such as at relevant national and international conferences and scholarly publications not intended for the REF).
- To contribute to generating societal impact beyond the academic sphere and to contribute to impact case studies in keeping with REF criteria.
- To supervise and mentor postgraduate research students into relevant communities of research at Essex as appropriate to the departmental context to generate meaningful connections between research and education at Essex.

Leadership and Citizenship

- To undertake leadership of specific areas of organisational activity within the department (e.g. recruitment, admissions, acting as undergraduate or postgraduate director) as may be reasonably required by the HoD.
- To play an active and constructive role in the Department and engage in activities beyond your own research and education duties, (e.g. admissions or undergraduate recruitment, etc.), as may be reasonably required by the HoD.
