

RECRUITMENT PACK

This document includes the following information:

- Duties of the post
- Person Specification
- Additional information

Making an application:

Please complete the short on-line application form and attach the following 5 documents. Shortlisting is undertaken by a panel after the closing date on the basis of information provided and failure to upload the requested documents will result in an application being rejected.

a) Please include a covering letter setting out how you meet the requirements of the role as set out in the person specification.

b) Include a full curriculum vitae (CV) including any publications. You should provide information on the range and content of your teaching and supervision experience, as well as on curriculum development. For posts with a research component, you should specify your 4 most significant papers published within the past 5 years (or an equivalent number appropriate to being an early career researcher). Applicants from within the UK should indicate which publications have been submitted to the REF 2014 and any assessment of the rating for each piece of work; For more information about the REF visit www.ref.ac.uk

c) Include an education statement of no more than two sides of A4 setting out your track record in terms of contribution to pedagogical developments and, where appropriate, the development of professional practice. You should also include a reflective statement on your approach to research-led education and how it draws on pedagogical research. Also indicate how you ensure your continuing professional development as an excellent teacher in higher education.

d) For posts with a research component, please include a research statement of no more than two sides of A4 providing details of your research plans for the next three years. This should include details of books, chapters or papers in progress together with planned publication dates. For journal articles please provide details of target journals and planned submission dates. If you have papers that are currently under review please detail the stage these have reached and the timescale you expect those papers to be accepted for publication. If you have papers that have been accepted for publication but not yet published please provide the date the paper was accepted for publication.

e) For posts with a research component, applicants should also submit no more than two sides of A4 setting out their three year plan for generating external funding to support their research.

A commitment to sustaining an inclusive and diverse community is one of the University's Core Values and we are keen to address any imbalances in our workforce.

We are proud to have been a Two Ticks employer since August 2008 and, as part of our commitment to this scheme, we guarantee an interview to any candidate with a disability who meets the essential criteria for the post. We also work in partnership with national disability organisation DisabledGo who provide detailed online access guides to many of our campus buildings and facilities which you may find useful.

Please note: We are only accepting on-line applications for this post. However, if you have a disability that makes it difficult for you to provide us with information in this way, please contact the Resourcing Team (01206-874588/873521) for help.

Closing Date: 7 June 2017

Interviews are planned for: 11 July 2017

JOB DESCRIPTION - REQ00643

Job Title and Grade:	Deputy Dean (Research) Social Sciences, Reader or Professor
Contract:	Permanent, full-time
Hours:	A notional minimum of 36 hours per week
Salary:	Reader (Grade 10) £49,772 - £55,999 per annum Professorial - Grade 11 salary scale and commensurate with skills and experience Plus leadership allowance (see general information)
Department/section:	Faculty of Social Sciences and relevant department within the Faculty
Responsible to:	Faculty Executive Dean
Purpose of the job:	To provide research leadership within the Faculty and between Faculties in the University to support meeting the strategic research goals of the University.

Purpose of the post

The Deputy Dean (Research) for the Faculty of Social Sciences is among the principal officers of the University. This newly established position is an exciting opportunity to take on a key research leadership role in the social sciences. It will interest those who have the experience and ambition to support the production of world-class research in a research-intensive University ranked 19th for research excellence in REF2014 and 4th in the UK for the social sciences. Based in the Faculty of Social Sciences, this is a pan-university role requiring the Deputy Dean (Research) to work not only within the Faculty but with the Deputy Deans (Research) of the other Faculties to promote cross-faculty collaboration and to co-ordinate major strategic research initiatives. We seek someone with ambition for and a passionate commitment to the social sciences. They will have a clear understanding of the external funding environment, the impact agenda and the current research policy landscape. Experience of leading research initiatives and of writing, or contributing to the writing of REF submissions, will be a distinct advantage in this post. We also welcome applications from candidates with experience of working with industry to develop innovative joint research projects and to generate new funding streams.

The Deputy Dean (Research) for the Social Sciences will play a crucial role in supporting the Faculty Executive Dean to implement and achieve the University's strategic objectives for research. The Deputy Dean (Research) is line managed by and reports to the Faculty Executive Dean and works with the Pro-Vice-Chancellor Research to support the effective implementation of the University's strategic research objectives. The post is a full-time appointment, with up to 0.8 FTE allocated to the Deputy Dean (Research) role and 0.2 FTE allocated for maintaining your research career. There is some flexibility on the time allocation for candidates who may be committed to externally funded research projects.

The Faculty of Social Sciences incorporates the Departments of Government, Sociology, Economics, Language and Linguistics, Essex Business School, the Institute for Social and Economic Research and the UK Data Archive. The Faculty also includes the newly created Department of Psychosocial and Psychoanalytic Studies. Candidates may come from any disciplinary background relevant to the Faculty. See <http://www.essex.ac.uk/ss/> for details of departments within the Faculty. The successful candidate will be appointed to a substantive post in the appropriate department within the Faculty at either Reader or Professorial level commensurate with skills and experience and will be submitted to REF2021. The successful candidate will be seconded to the Deputy Dean (Research) role for three years in the first instance and will not have teaching responsibilities during this period. On returning to the substantive role of Reader or Professor in the department, the full range of academic duties, including education, research, leadership and citizenship, will be assumed.

Duties of the post - Research strategy and research objectives

Duties of the post will include:

1. Provide research leadership within the Faculty to meet the research KPIs within the University Strategic Plan.
2. Support the Executive Dean in ensuring the effective implementation within the Faculty of the University's strategic research objectives.
3. Be a proactive member of the Faculty Steering Group, including contributing to Faculty planning in relation to the Faculty's research activities.
4. Support the development and enhancement of excellence in research within the Faculty by encouraging an active research culture that fosters and recognises the highest achievements, encourages originality and innovation and enriches the student learning experience through research.
5. Work with the PVC Research, Executive Dean, departmental Directors of Research, Heads of Departments and the Research Enterprise Office (REO) to ensure the strongest possible submissions to REF2021 including the production of 4* publications and generating 4* impact case studies.
6. Coordinate and facilitate the delivery of research impact within the Faculty in collaboration with departmental Directors of Impact and REO Impact Officers to raise the visibility of the Faculty's research.
7. Support the implementation of agreed strategies for improving the citations performance across the Faculty.
8. Promote research links and engagement with external organisations including with industry.
9. Liaise with departmental Directors of Research and REO on grant and contract submissions, leveraging internal peer review mechanisms to strengthen the quality of the Faculty research base and improve funding success rates.
10. Strengthen research links between departments within the Faculty, and encourage interdisciplinary research initiatives both within the Faculty and between Faculties providing leadership in the coordination, planning and delivery of large interdisciplinary funding bids.
11. In collaboration with REO capture detailed information of all research undertaken in the Faculty, identify new funding opportunities and develop strategies to significantly grow external research income.
12. Working with the PVC Research, Dean of Partnerships and REO, increase external collaborative research and knowledge exchange activity regionally, nationally and internationally with a particular focus on our partners within Eastern Arc, the Young European Research Universities Network (YERUN) and other strategic international partners.
13. In liaison with the Executive Dean, departmental Directors of Research and Heads of Department, support the development of the portfolio of research activities across the Faculty. The Deputy Dean (Research) will assist in developing research action plans that align with the University Research Strategy, work with the Faculty to deliver these plans and contribute to the Annual Planning Round and the production of the Faculty Plan.

University and Faculty management

14. Represent the Faculty on relevant University-level committees, as set out in the University's Ordinances.
15. Support the development of University strategy and policy relating to research (for example serving on and/or chairing task and finish groups), working closely with the PVC - Research.
16. Chair appointments committees as required.
17. Serve on research selection committees, for example, those dealing with invitations under the International Visiting Fellows scheme.
18. Be responsible, in consultation with the Executive Dean, relevant HoD and Human Resources, for dealing with individual cases of research under-performance for staff with a research component in their contract.

Other duties

19. To undertake other such duties as may be assigned from time to time by the Executive Dean or his/her nominee.
20. Upon return to a substantive role of Reader/Professor in the home department, education related duties including contributing actively to the education provision made by the department/faculty at both undergraduate and postgraduate levels (e.g. through the development of new modules and programmes, curriculum review processes, etc.)

Key relationships and contacts

The key internal relationships of the Deputy Dean (Research) are with the PVC Research, the Executive Dean, Deputy Deans (Research) in the other Faculties, the Faculty Research Development Manager (and wider Faculty support team), the Heads of Department, departmental Directors of Research and Directors of Impact within their Faculty, the Dean of Partnerships and the Research and Enterprise Office.

For Academic posts only: It should be noted that there is a contractual requirement for some members of academic staff to undertake research duties. If this requirement applies to a post it will be clearly stated in the job description, which forms part of the contract of employment.
