	D: Subject-specific milestones Students must have gained an in depth understanding of their chosen field of study. They must have made significant progress on experimental or theoretical work proposed, with some early results. Students should demonstrate an ability to analyse in depth, and critically evaluate, key published work.	Full progress report (8 - 10,000 words in most cases, but a shorter report accompanied by a clear summary of relevant results /work may be acceptable [with the supervisor's approval] If appropriate, evidence of the draft of a first journal, workshop, symposium, or conference paper is desirable.	By Confirmation Board (Term 4 for full-time students; Term 7 for part-time students)
Assess whether the planned research requires completion of the new COVID Risk Assessment for PGR student research and placement activities. All such risk assessments should be discussed at subsequent SPs and RSPBs.
