This Handbook is designed to provide you with an overview of all the essential information about the University and the Department of History. Your Student Handbooks provides details of your department, including staff and contact details, facilities and ways to communicate and receive updates, as well as information relating to your course of study at Essex, including Rules of Assessment and the related policies, prizes awarded by the department each year, student feedback and meetings, and University regulations regarding progress, appeals and extenuating circumstances.

Essex is about more than just getting a degree: we have so much to offer our students! This Student Handbook contains information on your Essex Experience, including the Students’ Union, sports clubs and societies, Essex Sport, Careers Services, campus information, IT support and services and our extensive range of student support and services.

The Student Directory contains a wealth of other helpful sources of information which can be found at https://www.essex.ac.uk/student.
Practicalities and Getting Started

You've made it to Essex! We've outlined below the most important things you need to make sure you do as soon as possible to get your time at Essex started.

Complete your Registration

Whilst you have accepted your offer and made your way to Essex, you still need to officially register yourself. At the start of each academic year, all new and returning students are required to register at the University. Registration is not only a formal procedure of enrolling you into the University, but it also connects you up to a number of vital systems you will need access to, including your IT account. As part of this process, you will need to complete online pre-arrival, physically attend a registration event on campus, and also activate your IT account.

To begin your registration, use one of the links below:

New students: https://www.essex.ac.uk/welcome/registration

Returning students: https://www.essex.ac.uk/student/registration/returner-registration

Explore your Campus

There is a broad range of facilities across each of our campuses to support your living and learning experience at Essex. We provide study-based services, like the IT helpdesk and group study pods, but also various food and drink venues and leisure facilities. The Students' Union also runs a wide range of facilities, bars and general stores. Full details on all on-campus facilities feature on our student webpages and in the campus guide you received with your welcome information when you joined us as a student member.

Get connected

Your IT account

You will need to set up your IT account and create a password through the University website www.essex.ac.uk/it/getaccount. You will need to register an external email address and passphrase to set up your account. Once you’re set up, you can access your email, log on to lab computers, connect to campus wi-fi, and much more.

You must change your password within four weeks of your account being created, and then once every four months after that. You should receive email notifications to change your password shortly before it is due to expire. The easiest way to change your password is online at: www.essex.ac.uk/password. If you have forgotten your password, you can also reset it through this link using your external email address and passphrase. If you have forgotten those also, you should either visit the IT Helpdesk or call 01206 872345. Make sure you keep your password safe and do not share it with others!

Campus Wi-fi

Wi-fi is available across all campuses. Simply find the ‘eduroam’ network on your device and use the same log in details as your IT account to connect up!

Essex Apps

The University has a variety of online systems and platforms designed to enhance your learning and help make processes, such as submitting coursework, easier. We have rounded up the top platforms, portals and apps that you need to know about!
MyEssex
MyEssex is your online account. You can use it to see your timetable, keep your personal details up-to-date, request replacement registration cards or supporting documents, such as council tax exemption certificates, see how you’re doing on your course, let us know if you’ll miss a lecture or class, contact the Student Services Hub, and much more.

PocketEssex
Pocket Essex is the University’s official app for students, giving you access to comprehensive information about living and learning at Essex. The app provides an interface of icons that act as a portal through to a variety of useful links, areas and resources. PocketEssex links to many areas that MyEssex does in a handy app form, but also takes you through to many other key contacts and resources, such as the Students’ Union, FindYourWay and the Library.

Find Your Way
We know that finding your way from one room to another can be challenging to start with. Our Colchester campus in particular can be difficult to navigate with a historically complex room numbering system that leaves even our final year students still baffled! FindYourWay is our interactive campus map that can either be accessed via PocketEssex, downloaded as its own app, or via web browser. It is designed to help you get from A to B on either the Colchester or Southend campuses with quick and easy directions. http://findyourway.essex.ac.uk/

https://www.essex.ac.uk/myessex/

Your personal belongings
University insurance cover is very limited for the belongings of students using graduate study rooms. Therefore, you are strongly advised to take out personal insurance cover for your possessions. This is especially important for items of particular value, such as personal electronic devices (i.e., laptops, phones and tablets). The University does not cover costs for personal damage or loss of your possessions; only in instances where the University has been negligent would a claim be viable for compensation for personal belongings.

Right to Study
The University must ensure all students have the right to study at the University of Essex for the whole duration of their course(s). If you require immigration permission to study in the UK, this will be checked when you first register on your course and as necessary thereafter.

For Tier 4 sponsored students, you will have conditions attached to your leave restricting study and work; some nationals are required to register with the Police. You are expected to have the finances in place to pay your tuition fees and living costs throughout your course and do not have access to state housing or benefits.

The Tier 4 rules and guidance include restrictions relating to the length of time you can spend studying in the UK and academic progress; this may mean you are unable to take an academic option offered to you or that we can’t continue to sponsor you under Tier 4. The University has many duties as a Tier 4 sponsor and must ensure we remain compliant in order to retain our Tier 4 licence. Find out more on the University’s website: https://www1.essex.ac.uk/immigration/ and https://www.essex.ac.uk/about/governance/regulations

If you would like to get additional support with your English language skills, you can find helpful information and a range of resources here: https://www.essex.ac.uk/welcome/international-students
English classes for the dependants of international students and staff (ECDIS)
The Department of Language and Linguistics offers dependants of international students and staff at the Colchester Campus the chance to improve their English language, through our ECDIS programme, at no extra cost. Classes are taught at three basic levels: Elementary (A1/A2), Intermediate (B1/B2) and Advanced (C1/C2) and will focus on listening, speaking, reading and writing.

The Essex Experience

The University and the Students' Union have developed our Student Charter as a part of our ongoing commitment to create an outstanding environment that offers the highest standards of teaching, research and support in an international and multi-cultural community. The Student Charter reiterates that you are a member of the University of Essex community, not just while you are a student or recent graduate here, but for life.

You can read the full Student Charter at:

As part of our community you will have the freedom to explore, experiment, and challenge your discipline and have your ideas shaped by peer and professional knowledge from all over the world.

Your time at Essex will be an experience beyond the classroom; there is so much available to all students so you can make the most of your time at Essex and have a truly unforgettable Essex Experience.

Equality, Inclusion and Diversity

The University recognises the value of diversity and is committed to equality of opportunity within the University. It therefore aims to create the conditions whereby students and staff are treated with dignity and respect, and solely on the basis of their merits, abilities and potential, regardless of race, ethnic or national origin, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, disability, age, socio-economic background, family circumstances, religious or political beliefs and affiliations, or any other irrelevant distinction.

The University is committed to a programme of action to ensure that this policy is fully effective. You can find out more information on the University's policy, and get in touch with any comments or questions, here:

Your Module Tutor

All teaching staff hold regular weekly academic support hours during term time. This is a time when you can go and see them about anything to do with your modules, from difficulties you might be having with your seminar readings, to discussions about feedback on your coursework. These academic support hours operate on a ‘drop-in’ basis - this means that you do not need to book an appointment; you can just turn up during the time advertised. Details of academic support hours are posted on office doors and on the History noticeboards. If you cannot make the advertised time for any reason, you can e-mail your tutor to make an appointment. This academic support hours are very important and you should make use of them, happy will be happy to help with any query you may have.

Please note that academic staff do not hold regular academic support hours during the vacations, and may, on occasions, be away from the University on research trips and visits. Therefore, if you need to get in touch with them during the vacation periods, you should e-mail them in the first instance.

You can find out who is the module tutor for each Module here: https://www1.essex.ac.uk/modules/
Your Personal Tutor
All undergraduate students have a Personal Tutor who will meet you soon after you arrive, and regularly throughout your course. Your Personal Tutor will be a member of the academic staff from within the Department of History and is there to help you feel connected to your department. Your Personal Tutor is someone who you can talk to if you have questions about your course or encounter any difficulties that may affect your studies, and can recommend and direct you to other support services on campus that might be able to further help and support you. You can find out who your Personal Tutor is through MyEssex, and the contact details of all staff can be found on our website: https://www.essex.ac.uk/departments/history

Staff research interests
Our Department is internationally recognised for the quality of its research across a broad range of areas from 1450 to the present, ranging from social and cultural history to politics and international relations. Themes of particular interest in research include violence and protest, race, class formation, nationalism, cultural history, gender, and wars and revolutions. Research is organised through research clusters which bring together academic staff, postgraduate students and visiting the postdoctoral fellows, you can find more information about the various clusters at: https://www.essex.ac.uk/departments/history/research. Details of staff research interests and their publications can be found at www.essex.ac.uk/history/staff/.

Departmental resources and facilities
A wide range of facilities and resources are available for all students to access and use as part of their study at Essex. Each department and school also has a selection for the exclusive use of their students. Below is a summary of the facilities and resources that are likely to be most useful to you.

History Common Room
The History Common Room (5NW.7.1) is located on the same corridor as the Department Office and is for the use of all students and staff in the department.

Postgraduate Study Room
The Postgraduate Study room is available for all research students in History, you can find it at 5NW.7.5.

Postgraduate Lockers
Lockers are available in the Common Room for postgraduate students. These are allocated on a first-come first-served basis. If you are allocated a locker it will be necessary for you to supply your own padlock. Please speak to Lisa Willis if you are interested in using a locker.

Postgraduate Training
Postgraduate Taught students are provided with structured training throughout their scheme of study. The Department offers a wide range of postgraduate taught modules that either explore particular fields and concepts, or offer specific training in research methods and skills. Students should peruse the modules available and discuss with the Graduate Director Taught which of these modules would be suitable.

Postgraduate courses consist of a number of compulsory training modules and some optional modules. For all courses students must be assessed on five modules (which vary according to the degree scheme). For most schemes these are made up of two compulsory training modules and three optional modules (or four, if the student is assessed on one training module only).
A typical History module consists of ten seminars, and modules are usually taught weekly in either the autumn or spring term.

Copies of the following reference books are available from the History Department Office and may be borrowed for short periods of time.

A useful publication is the MHRA Style Book, which is obtainable from the University Bookshop. The final version of your MA dissertation or research thesis should conform as strictly as possible to the guidelines laid down in this publication (London: Modern Humanities Research Association, 2002).

Grants for History - guide to funding specifically for historians and the history discipline (University of London: Institute of Historical Research, 2013).

Departmental prizes
The Department awards prizes annually in the form of vouchers or money. The prizes are presented at the Graduation Reception.

- The MA Dissertation Prize is awarded to the MA History student deemed by the Board of Examiners in History to have written the best dissertation.

These usually consist of a fairly informal paper about work-in-progress, followed by extensive discussion, which invariably continues over drinks in the bar or in the History Common Room. The seminars are an excellent way to meet staff as well as students, both undergraduate and postgraduate. Members of the public are also welcome to attend. For more details please see the History website.
| Postgraduate conferences | The Department holds regular one-day postgraduate conferences. The Essex conference is an important forum for research students to meet and discuss their work in a constructive setting and all students in the Department are encouraged to get involved in similar events in the future.

Communication

It is important to keep up to date with information relating to your department and course. This section also summarises how the department/school will communicate updates with you and provides some guidance on communicating with University staff.

The University’s policy is to use e-mail for routine communication between staff and students. Your Essex e-mail address will have been added to the relevant e-mail groups specific to your department or school, course and modules to ensure that you receive the essential information, updates and general communication related to your study and issues that may affect you. It is therefore vital that you check your Essex email regularly. It is recommended that you check your Essex email each day to ensure you do not miss any important updates to classes and assessment.
If you are elected to a Student Representative position, work as a Graduate Teaching Assistant, or volunteer in another form or means, it is even more important to regularly check your Essex email as should other students and staff need to get in touch, they will do so via your Essex email.

You will also automatically be subscribed to a small number of opt-out lists, again, based on your course. These will be used to send useful information and, while some of this may be about events, marketing or other opportunities, we try to avoid sending too much. To opt in or out of such lists, please visit:

https://www1.essex.ac.uk/it/services/forms/default.aspx

How you should communicate

While email can be a quick and easy means of communicating, you should still consider how you structure and write each email to ensure it is appropriate when contacting members of staff at the University. How you communicate is a reflection on your professional and academic self, and so we have provided some useful tips to consider when constructing an email for different purposes. These are also useful when contacting professionals and academics outside of the University and are widely recognised as a matter of courtesy in the United Kingdom.

- The level of formality
  If you are writing to your lecturer for the first time, it is good practice to use a relatively formal manner and use their correct title, for example, ‘Dear Dr Bercow’ or ‘Dear Professor Hammond’. If your lecturer signs their reply using their first name, then it is generally acceptable to reply using just their first name in your response; if not, continue to address them with their full, formal name.
  If you are unsure of your lecturer’s title, you can find their full details here: https://www.essex.ac.uk/departments/history/people if no title is noted, then you should use the member of staff’s full name.

- Identify yourself
  In the first few weeks of term, academic staff will be busy getting to know all of their students. Therefore, it is important that you begin by introducing and identifying yourself to them as they will not know every student right away. For example, ‘I am taking module AB123 and was at your lecture on Research Methods on Tuesday morning…’ You should always use your Essex email as your full name will appear to the member of staff you are emailing, but still remember to sign off your email with your name, including your preferred name if this is different to your official legal name on your record and account.

- Consider your question
  You should always check that who you are contacting is the most appropriate person to answer your query. The useful department contact list provided earlier in this section should help you determine who will be able to help you on a range of different queries. Before emailing the member of staff, you should make sure that you have checked the resources provided, including the University website, Student Directory, Departmental Moodle pages and this Student Handbook in case the answer to your question can be found in one of these.

If your question is particularly long or complex, it may be quicker and more useful to see someone in person. Your department office is open daily and all staff hold academic support hours when you can just drop in. If you cannot make the advertised support hours, or wish to notify the member of staff before you drop in, you can always email them beforehand to arrange an alternative time or make them aware you will be coming along.
Our website
Each department and school has its own section of the University website. This is an important source of information and news about all aspects of your studies. You can find the department website here: https://www.essex.ac.uk/departments/history myEssex is your online account. Your MyEssex student portal will alert you to updates about modules and other aspects of your course and studies. It is important that you check your MyEssex regularly, as well as email, to ensure you have the most up to date information.

MyEssex

By telephone
You will only be contacted via phone in emergencies, or when it is otherwise necessary to receive an immediate response, but you should ensure that you provide the University with a contact number with your personal details.

By text message
In instances where a last minute change has been made, and the department or school need to communicate this with short notice, you may receive a text message to communicate the change, such as a lecture or class cancellation. You should ensure that you provide the University with a contact number with your personal details.

By letter
Letters may be attached to your Essex email or posted to your term-time address, so please make sure the University has got your current contact details. Your address and contact details can be updated via the MyEssex portal.

Learning and Teaching
The University is committed to providing equal opportunities for all our students regardless of where or how you study. Our diverse student population is taken into account when developing the resources, services and facilities on and off campus, when we create our courses, write publications and course materials, and set our policies and regulations.

There are essentially three modes of teaching at postgraduate level. Most teaching is through small group seminars, groups ranging from 5-12 students with discussion led by the seminar teacher but often with short presentations by students. One module, Research Methods in History, is designed to introduce students to a range of research methods, and can have greater numbers and follows a different format. Finally, there is teaching through dissertation supervisory sessions. This teaching – like student consultation about coursework – is entirely individual. It involves consultations with a supervisor, as well as critical discussion of draft chapters and comments on them by the supervisor. This particular mode of teaching largely takes place in the summer term and vacation and is fundamental to honing students’ research and writing skills.

You will find that you are expected to work more independently than during your undergraduate degree; this is both a reflection of the higher level of study and preparation for those wishing to continue to a PhD.
The academic year
The academic year uses a week numbering system that covers the 52 weeks of a calendar year, but corresponds to typical term dates. So, the start of the academic year is week 1, which is Welcome week.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Term</th>
<th>Week numbers</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Autumn</td>
<td>2-11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Spring</td>
<td>16-25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Summer</td>
<td>30-39</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

You can view the University’s week numbers with the equivalent dates in the week by week calendar: https://www.essex.ac.uk/student/timetables/your-timetable. The University’s key dates (https://www.essex.ac.uk/about/governance/key-dates) include an overview of the start and end of each term and exam periods.

The official University teaching day runs from 9am to 6pm, Monday to Friday and you are expected to be available during these times in term time to attend teaching events.

You may have to select options to select as part of your course structure. If you do, you must choose the options that you wish to enrol on before the academic year begins. New students will access the system from the end of August. Returning students will access the system from the April preceding the next academic year. Departments will approve your selections within a few weeks of them being made, and timetables will take module enrolment into account when planning for the next academic year. Early module enrolment will ensure that you know which modules to attend and where the lectures and classes are ready for the start of term. You can view and choose your specific options through the eNROL system.

eNROL: https://www1.essex.ac.uk/enrol/Account/Login?ReturnUrl=%2Fenrol%2F

Teaching timetable
Once you have chosen all of your modules (if applicable) and received confirmation, they will appear on your personal timetable. Each student has a personal timetable, this shows you when and where you teaching is taking place, as well as who is teaching you. Check your personal online timetable regularly for up to date teaching information. You can access your timetable on most mobile devices, including smart phones and tablets.

https://www1.essex.ac.uk/timetables/timetable.aspx

You may find that the first week of your timetable is blank if you do not have any course commitments during Welcome Week (week 1). Due to unforeseen, unavoidable circumstances, there may be some room changes during the year; therefore it is vital that you regularly check your timetable and Essex email where any changes will be communicated immediately.

Information about teaching timetables, including requesting a class change, reporting a timetable issue and accessing your individual timetable can be found at: https://www.essex.ac.uk/student/timetables/your-timetable
Course structure
Each course at the University has its own syllabus, full details of which can be found in the University's Programme Specifications Catalogue at:

https://www1.essex.ac.uk/programmespecs/

Programme specifications provide key information, including the aims and learning outcomes of your course. Your own course structure, including your specific programme specification, can be found in the MyStudy section of your MyEssex homepage.

https://www1.essex.ac.uk/myessex/

Learning Outcomes
Each course has learning outcomes, as outlined in the Programme Specifications. Course learning outcomes are categorised into knowledge, intellectual, practical and key skills, and are also defined more specifically at a modular level highlighting the particular aims, learning outcomes and methods of assessment for each module. Having this information means that you can measure your progress against the outcomes, for example when reviewing coursework feedback, and they can be used to guide you when undertaking independent study.

Having completed a course successfully, students will have acquired the following skills:

- the ability to gather and assimilate large amounts of information and data;
- the critical analysis of such material for deployment in a reasoned argument;
- fluent and lucid communication, both oral and written;
- self-discipline and self-direction;
- the ability to work with others.

Credits
The Postgraduate Certificate is made up of five taught modules, each with a credit weighting of 20 credits. Postgraduate Certificate students submit coursework for four assessed modules, usually consisting of one 5,000-word essay, although some modules may require more than one piece of work to be submitted. In addition students submit a dissertation proposal of 1,500 words for the training module Research Methods in History which is assessed on a pass/fail basis.

In the case of Modular Study students, the coursework for each module has normally to be marked at the pass level before the student can proceed to the next module. A student may, however, be permitted to proceed once only with a module marked below 40 per cent.

MA Coursework
The MA is made up of five taught modules, each with a credit weighting of 20 credits, plus the dissertation with a credit weighting of 80 credits. Some of the modules are core, which must be taken and passed to gain the qualification. Some of the modules are compulsory, that is, they must be taken but a failure to pass them can be condoned in certain circumstances. The pass make for MA coursework is 50 per cent.

MA students submit four essays of 5,000 words, one for each module, which they are assessed on, plus a dissertation of 20,000 words. In addition they submit a dissertation proposal of 1,500 words for the training module Research Methods in History. The assessment for the training module Research Methods must be at the pass level.

In the case of Modular Study students the coursework for each module should normally be marked at the pass level before they can proceed to the next module. A student may, however, be permitted to proceed once only, when a module has been marked between 40 and 49 per cent.

Module information

Most modules taught reflect the individual research interests of members of our academic staff. New modules are regularly explored, researched and developed in collaboration with the University’s Quality and Academic Development Team to expand our transformative educational offering at Essex. A full list of modules available in the department can be found here: https://www1.essex.ac.uk/modules/

For most assessed modules students are required to do the necessary reading; prepare for and attend each weekly seminar; take part in each seminar discussion; and submit an essay. Different forms of assessment apply to the Research Methods in History.

When students audit a module they are required to do the necessary reading; prepare for and attend each weekly seminar; take part in each seminar discussion; but are not required to submit an essay.

Except where otherwise specified (see individual course syllabus and requirements) each student must submit one essay for each assessed module. Please note: for any module not assessed by a single essay, arrangements for assessment and deadlines will be communicated via the module tutor and/or History postgraduate noticeboards.

Students are expected to agree each essay title with the module tutor in advance of the coursework deadline. History essays should be 5,000 words in length.

In order to make sure that you submit an assignment by the deadline you must be organised and start the work for your assignment well in advance of the deadline. You must allow yourself time to find and read the necessary books and articles, to think about and plan your assignment, to read and think some more, and then to write up your assignment. You should also make use of staff academic support hours.

All deadline dates will be announced at the start of the academic year by module teachers and published on the History noticeboard.

Producing assignments to specified deadlines throughout the academic year is an important aspect of the educational experience of doing your degree. It develops your ability to plan and organise your own work and time efficiently, and enables you to apply lessons learnt in the writing of assignments earlier in the year to those written later in the year. The reasons for having a strict system of deadlines (see paragraph below on Coursework Deadline Policy) are:

- to reinforce the importance of meeting deadlines;
- to ensure that no students have an unfair advantage in taking longer to do their assignments than others; and
- to ensure that staff members are able to use their time for marking assignments as efficiently as possible and in a way which is most beneficial to all students.
You should allow ample time for typing your essay in case things go wrong with computers, WiFi, etc. Do ensure that you back up your work regularly to another location, e.g. memory stick. Remember also that if you have a deadline then so do lots of other students and that pressure on resources increases, the closer the deadline looms.

Module choice

In the summer term, the department produces a Module and Enrolment information booklet with details of modules running in the following academic year. Meetings for first and second-year students will be held where students can discuss their choices with their Personal Tutor.

Changing Modules

Where you must make a choice as to which optional modules you undertake, you should make every effort to research the module and discuss with your Personal Tutor and department before selecting them. In instances where you need to make a change to your module choice, you may do so up until the second week of the Autumn Term.

Students wishing to discuss the possibility of changing modules should speak to Lisa Willis and/or the Graduate Director Taught. Students may change modules during the first two weeks of term with the permission of the Graduate Director Taught and the new module tutor. After the first two weeks, students will not normally be permitted to change modules.

Late changes may be permitted, but will be subject to the approval of the department that runs the module and the relevant Dean. Late changes of modules that run for one term or less will not usually be permitted. Students may not change modules that are core or compulsory for the course for which they are registered.

Module Directors

Module Directors are responsible for the individual modules, which make up courses. They design the modules, teach them and examine them. They monitor student progress and talk to students about any academic issues related to their particular module.

Module Materials

Reading lists for each module can be found on Talis Aspire, the University’s online reading list: https://essex.rl.talis.com/index.html. All other information and module materials can be found on Moodle: https://moodle.essex.ac.uk/.

Work-based Learning

Placements are also an option. Please talk to Dr Alix Green (alix.green@essex.ac.uk) if you are interested in undertaking any placement opportunities.

Library Services

At our Colchester Campus, the Albert Sloman Library on Square 5 is open 24/7 and has a variety of study spaces over six floors, including individual and group work areas. The Library offers a wide range of learning resources, online and in print, with a dedicated Helpdesk, live chat and the opportunity to book appointments with your Subject Librarian to help you through your studies and beyond.

library.essex.ac.uk

The library has a team of Subject Librarians who can help you to find appropriate resources for your assignments and show you how to search effectively. They can also provide advice on referencing and academic integrity, using reference management software, and evaluating sources. Find out who your subject Librarian is and get help with your subject area at library.essex.ac.uk/studyres
Information on periodicals and databases relevant to History, and also links to internet resources useful to History students are available from the History subject resources page on the Library website at http://libwww.essex.ac.uk/Subject_Guides/hist.htm.

Collections of primary source materials are available from some Library databases, such as Early English Books Online, Eighteenth Century Collections Online, Empire Online and Defining Gender. All of these databases are available through the catalogue or from the Electronic Resource & Database Menu on the Library website: http://libwww.essex.ac.uk/eres.htm

Skills for Success
We are committed to ensuring that every student is able to get the most out of their academic study and achieve their potential on their course. Whether you need support with researching, assignment writing, mathematics and statistics, digital skills, or English language for academic purposes, support is available to help you succeed during your time at University. Reach your potential and enhance your chances of success with classes, workshops, drop-in clinics and on-line resources. Find out more at: www.essex.ac.uk/students/study-resources/tdc/

The use of proofreading services
Many students seek 'proofreading' services at some point during their studies, but different editing practices at times go on in this name that may not be appropriate in an academic context, and could potentially qualify as an academic offence. In a context where work is to be assessed, the University is keen to ensure as far as possible that students understand what proofreading work should entail and the acceptable boundaries to which any proofreading or editing must adhere to.

The University maintain a list of local freelance proofreaders who offer services to students and staff at Essex that have read and agreed to abide by the University's policy and guidance on proofreading. The University's full policy and guidance can be found along with the list of local freelance proofreaders on the website: https://www.essex.ac.uk/student/academic-skills/proofreading

Before considering the use of proofreading services, all students should first discuss their work with their personal tutors.

Learning a Language

Learn a language at Essex to increase your global and cultural awareness. There are a number of ways to do it, so look online to discover the best option for you.

Attendance Monitoring (Count me in)

Recording attendance
You’ll need to record your attendance at all teaching events using the electronic reader in the teaching room. Just ‘tap in’ for every timetabled teaching event you attend.

Your attendance at lectures and classes has a significant impact on how successful you are in your studies. At Essex, we monitor attendance so we can identify students who may need extra guidance and support.
You should not tap in and then immediately leave the teaching event; you should not tap in for someone who is not attending the class. These are recognised by the University as a formal academic offence and may result in disciplinary action being taken against you.

Recording an absence

If you are unable to attend a teaching event, you must report your absence in your MyEssex portal (https://www.essex.ac.uk/myessex/AbsenceFromTeaching.aspx) portal.

Your department consider the reasons and may record it as an authorised absence. Accepted reasons for absence from teaching include extenuating circumstances (such as illness), participation in certain events (such as a significant extra-curricular University or SU Society event or Jury Service). Examples of reasons that will not be accepted include oversleeping, or missing the bus or train. Be prepared that you may need to provide evidence, including medical evidence, if relevant.

If you need to report an absence from an examination or class test, you must report your absence in your MyEssex portal and submit an extenuating circumstances form. You can find out how to do this in the Extenuating Circumstances section of this Handbook.

Please contact your Personal Tutor, department staff or the Student Services Hub for advice and support, particularly if you are going to be absent for several weeks.

Lost or faulty cards

If you lose your card or it is faulty, please go to the Student Services Hub to get a new card and have your attendance record updated (a fee may be applicable).

Making changes to your study

Changing your course

Students wishing to discuss the possibility of changing course should speak to the Senior Student Administrator or the Graduate Director Taught.

If you are thinking about changing course, we recommend that you speak to someone in your school/department as soon as possible. They will be able to advise you if there are any specific requirements for the course you are looking to change to. If the course you are looking to change to is within a different school/department, then you should also speak to someone in that department. If you are thinking of undertaking a placement year or year abroad, you should check the requirements for these programmes and contact the Industry and Placements Team or Essex Abroad Team.

There are deadlines in place for when you need to change course by, so please make sure you are aware of these deadlines before requesting to change. Further details on changing course and the relevant deadlines can be found at www.essex.ac.uk/students/course-admin/Changing-Course.aspx or by visiting your Student Services Hub.

You should investigate your potential new course by looking at course information on the department’s web pages, talking to students on the course and speaking to tutors. You should also look at our Rules of Assessment for the new course to check whether there are any course-specific requirements.

If you want to change your mode of study from full-time to part-time, you should discuss this with our departmental staff. If this is possible, you will need to make a formal request, to be approved by your Department and Dean, using the online Change of Mode of Study form which you can find online:

https://www1.essex.ac.uk/students/course-admin/Changing-Course.aspx
Changing your mode of study may affect your immigration status and you may need to contact the Home Office or make a new Tier 4 application. Please carefully read our guidance on visas and course changes:

https://www1.essex.ac.uk/immigration/studies/changes_course.aspx

Maximum period of study

Postgraduate students have a maximum period in which to complete their studies. This is set from the date you are first admitted to a taught postgraduate programme. It is based on the normal length of the course, plus one or more additional years. Unless there are exceptional circumstances, periods of intermission will count towards the original maximum period. Further details on the maximum period for your course can be found in the Credit Framework for Taught Postgraduate courses.

https://www1.essex.ac.uk/students/exams-and-coursework/ppg/pgt/assess-rules.aspx

Thinking of leaving or taking a break from your studies?

You may experience doubts at some point during your studies, if you’re thinking about leaving Essex, we’re here to support you and give you the advice you need to help you make an informed choice.

Intermission is a temporary withdrawal or leave of absence from the University and provides you with the opportunity to take a break from your studies. Normally, this is for reasons beyond your control (e.g. health or personal problems) although other reasons are permitted. Intermission must be approved by the University first, so if you are thinking about intermitting, we strongly advise you to contact your department and your Student Services Hub to talk to one of our advisers.

You should also read our guidance on intermitting very carefully at www.essex.ac.uk/see/intermit. If your intermission is agreed to, we will also give you the advice and support you need to help you carry on with your studies.

Withdrawing is the formal process for permanently leaving your programme of study and the University. If you are thinking of withdrawing, you should seek advice from your Department or the Student Services Hub at the earliest opportunity. It is very important that you discuss your circumstances with the University and follow the formal procedure for withdrawing. If the university is not formally notified, then you may risk continuing to incur further tuition or accommodation fees. More advice and information is available at www.essex.ac.uk/see/withdraw.

The use of personal devices in teaching

You can use laptops and tablet PCs during teaching classes for purposes related to the class you are attending. You should refrain from using your mobile phone during all teaching events, except in cases where a lecturer uses a programme which requires these devices to be switched on for participation.
Student and staff expectations

It will help both staff and students if they can try to meet the following expectations.

What Students can expect from teachers

- for each module, a description with aims and objectives, a reading list and assessment rules;
- a series of well-prepared seminars, the themes for which are clearly indicated in the module description;
- to be informed at least two weeks in advance if they are expected to make a seminar presentation;
- that coursework submitted on time will normally be returned within 20 working days of the relevant coursework deadline;
- that comments will be provided on or with coursework. These comments will normally offer a broad rationale for the mark awarded and where possible suggest some direction for further development. The length of comments will vary but will usually be about 50-100 words;
- that members of staff will be available to see students during academic support hours, the times of which will be publicised;
- that students will be informed of any last minute changes to the timetable (e.g. due to teacher's illness) via email or text message.
- that members of staff will normally reply to emails within two working days during term-time and a week out of term-time, unless otherwise indicated;
- In addition, for supervision of postgraduate taught MA dissertations:
  - full-time, second-year part-time and final year modular studies students can expect to see their supervisor on at least two occasions during the summer term;
  - to have their dissertation read and commented on in draft form, provided it is submitted by an agreed date;
  - to be provided with initial bibliographic assistance on their agreed dissertation;
  - to be given guidance on the general structure of the dissertation itself.

What Teachers can expect from students

- that students arrive punctually, and attend regularly, seminars. In the event of an absence an explanation is expected in advance of the seminars;
- that students should arrange a meeting, at the beginning of the relevant term, with each of their module tutors to discuss individual module requirements;
- that any required reading has been completed before the relevant seminar;
- that a sufficient amount of time is spent each week reading and preparing for each module, including the writing of coursework;
- that students participate actively in seminars and honour commitments to produce work for a seminar, including presentations;
- that students discuss and agree an essay title for each module with their module tutor, in advance of the relevant coursework deadline;
- That students do not use mobile phones in class unless relevant to the discussion;
- that coursework is submitted on time, in a word-processed format with a completed coversheet attached;
- that all coursework is properly documented, cites all sources used and is the student’s own work;
- that students ensure they are checking and responding to emails regularly;
- that students be familiar with the Departmental Student Handbook, and the rules contained therein, particularly relating to essay writing and submission;
In addition, for taught MA students, it is necessary that by the end of week 25 of the spring term of the relevant academic year all students must have:
- decided and agreed a dissertation topic with the Graduate Director Taught;
- agreed dates for supervision sessions over the spring and summer terms with their dissertation supervisor;
- agreed the timetable for submission of draft chapters with their dissertation supervisor;
- submitted a 1,500-word dissertation proposal to Lisa Willis.
Assessment and Good Practice
All schools and departments at the University should employ a variety of assessment methods designed to ensure that the learning outcomes of each module, and course, have been successfully met by the student.

The Regulations relating to Academic Affairs which govern assessment at the University can be found online:

www.essex.ac.uk/governance/regulations

Methods of Assessment
Whether a module is core, compulsory or optional, all methods of assessment are compulsory. If you do not complete coursework or attend examinations, and do not have extenuating circumstances to support your non-submission or absence, then you are at risk of being withdrawn from the University.

Rules of Assessment
The Rules of Assessment are used to calculate your results. There is a main set of rules for 3 year and 4 year courses, but some departments also have additional variations which can be found in the Variation to the Rules of Assessment.

https://www1.essex.ac.uk/students/exams-and-coursework/ppg/ug/default.aspx

Each module you will take will have a credit value which you are awarded if you successfully complete the module. You need to obtain a certain amount of credits to be awarded your degree, and the Rules of Assessment and the Framework for taught postgraduate courses give you more information about this.

The following is only a summary of the key points. You should read the rules and make sure you understand them. If you need advice, ask your personal tutor, departmental administrator, or SU Advice.

Core, compulsory and optional modules
To understand the requirements to pass your course, you need to know the status of the modules that you are taking. You can find details of the status of your modules in Section C of your programme specification via My Essex.

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Type</th>
<th>Description</th>
<th>Requirements</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Core</td>
<td>You must take this module</td>
<td>Must pass this module. No failure can be permitted.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Compulsory</td>
<td>You must take this module</td>
<td>There might be limited opportunities to continue on the course/be eligible for the degree if you fail it.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Optional</td>
<td>You can choose which module to study</td>
<td>There might be limited opportunities to continue on the course/be eligible for the degree if you fail it.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Most modules in each year must be passed, with only a small number of credits, if any, being allowed to be failed in the degree.

Academic Integrity and Academic Offences
The University expects students to complete all assessment with honesty and integrity and to follow our conventions for academic writing (including appropriate referencing of sources) and ethical considerations. If you don’t meet these expectations, then you may be charged with having committed an academic offence, a matter the University takes very seriously.
It is your responsibility to make yourself aware of the regulations governing examinations and how to correctly prepare your coursework. An academic offence can take place even if you didn’t mean to commit one, and examples include plagiarism, falsifying data or evidence, and communicating with another candidate in an examination.

If you aren’t sure what the conventions are, particularly in relation to referencing, you should ask your department and contact Skills for Success via the Student Services Hub.

More information about academic offences and getting support can be found at:

www.essex.ac.uk/about/governance/policies/academic-offences.aspx

Ethics in research

All research involving human participants, whether undertaken by the University’s staff or students, must undergo an ethics review by an appropriate body and ethical approval must be obtained before it commences. You can find our Guidelines for Ethical Approval of Research Involving Human Participants here - https://www.essex.ac.uk/staff/research-governance/ethical-approval-resources-for-applicants - along with a link to the online Ethical Approval application form in ERAMS (https://erams.essex.ac.uk/do/essex-login/login).

‘Human participants’ are defined as including living human beings, human beings who have recently died (cadavers, human remains and body parts), embryos and foetuses, human tissue and bodily fluids, and personal data and records (such as, but not restricted to medical, genetic, financial, personnel, criminal or administrative records and test results including scholastic achievements). Research involving the NHS may require and research involving human tissue or adults lacking capacity to consent will require Health Research Authority approval.

Coursework

Students should follow the style guidelines provided in the Guide to Essay Writing in Appendix A of this Handbook. It is particularly important that coursework be correctly presented as follows:

- use a minimum font size of 11pt
- double-spaced text, except long quotations, footnotes and the bibliography
- quotations of more than four lines should be single spaced and indented
- footnotes and bibliography should be double-spaced between each item
- margins: top and left = 3 centimetres; bottom and right = 2 centimetres
- all pages numbered

We strongly advise everyone to print out a paper copy of each essay for proofreading and correcting before submitting the essay electronically. As any experienced writer will confirm, you are much more likely to spot errors and weaknesses in your own writing when you see it on paper, than when you see it on a screen. It can also be helpful to ask a friend or family member to have a read over your draft, they will be distanced from the essay subject so will find it easier to spot typographical errors.

You can find the marking scale and mark criteria on our Information for Current Students Moodle site: https://moodle.essex.ac.uk/course/view.php?id=7062

Academic writing support

Please refer to the Coursework Guide (which can be found on the Information for Current Students Moodle site) for more further help and information.
Samples of coursework
We have samples of previous MA dissertations available to consult. If you are interested please contact Lisa Willis (lwillis@essex.ac.uk).

Referencing in coursework
Respecting authorship through good academic practice is one of the key values of higher education in the UK.

The University takes academic offences very seriously. You should read the sections of this handbook which refer to referencing, coursework and examinations very carefully.

Referencing is a key academic/scientific skill. It is how you will acknowledge all sources used within a piece of work. You must reference all works used directly (quotes) and indirectly (paraphrasing and summarising).

Referencing allows you to give credit to authors'/researchers' concepts and ideas/ideas and results, demonstrate your breadth of reading and knowledge on a subject, direct readers to your sources, and avoid plagiarism.

You should always use the best available sources of evidence, such as peer reviewed journals and recognised books.

Your departmental referencing style is MHRA, for help with referencing, visit the library website: library.essex.ac.uk/referencing, or take the Academic Integrity Moodle course: https://moodle.essex.ac.uk/course/view.php?id=5844

Submission of coursework
The online coursework submission system (FASER) can be accessed through myEssex or at this web address: http://faser.essex.ac.uk/ where you will find full instructions. History coursework must be submitted online via FASER by 12:00 noon on the published deadline date for the module. The system allows you to upload a digital copy of your assignment to the web.

You are encouraged to log on to FASER at the start of the year so that you understand how it works before you reach your first deadline. There is a trial module and deadline for you to use as a practice submission. There is a helpful guidance on how to use FASER here: https://www1.essex.ac.uk/e-learning/tools/faser/Student/HelpCentre#uploading

You can upload as many draft versions of your work as you like onto the server and are encouraged to use this as a safe and secure area to store your coursework. This can help to avoid the problem of your computer crashing at the last minute and your important files being lost. In cases where multiple versions are uploaded you will need to make any which you do NOT want to be included in the final submission a ‘draft’ otherwise just the most recently uploaded file will be taken as the final version. The maximum file upload size is 50MB.

Problems with FASER
If you have technical difficulties: Please contact the Learning Technology Team itt@essex.ac.uk as soon as possible to find out if this is a University issue or whether it may be a problem with your computer. This will count towards your claim when submitting a late coursework form should you need to. You can also contact IT Services helpdesk on it.helpdesk@essex.ac.uk

If you are confused or unsure how to upload, or are having any non-technical difficulties you should contact your Undergraduate Administrator.
Late submission of coursework

We have a single policy at the University of Essex for the late submission of coursework in undergraduate courses: all coursework submitted after the deadline will receive a mark of zero. No extensions will be granted. A student submitting coursework late will have the University’s and Department’s arrangements for late submission drawn to their attention. The policy states that the mark of zero shall stand unless you submit satisfactory evidence of extenuating circumstances that indicate that you were unable to submit the work by the deadline.

Where a student is unable to undertake the assessment by the deadline, and it is deemed impossible to consider a late submission request due to the nature of the assessment (e.g. absence from in-class tests, practical assignments and presentations), an extenuating circumstances form should be submitted which will be considered by the Board of Examiners.

The University’s full Late Submission policy and further information can be found on the website:

https://www1.essex.ac.uk/students/exams-and-coursework/late-submission.aspx

Return of coursework

Seminar teachers will mark assignments and provide feedback, within a maximum of 20 working days of the deadline.

Moderation and marking

The University’s Marking Policy can be found online and includes our policy and procedure on the moderation of work.

https://www1.essex.ac.uk/quality/university_policies/examination_and_assessment/marking_policy/default.asp

Moderation

Moderation is a process separate from that of marking and provides assurance that the assessment criteria have been applied appropriately. When work is moderated, it means that a second member of academic staff takes a random sample of the work for a particular assessment and reviews the marks given. In instances where the moderator feels marks may not be entirely appropriate, the moderator would not change individual marks for the work, but would liaise with the first marker to agree whether marks should be reviewed across the particular piece of assessment or module. Should a review of marks be agreed, this may lead to marks being adjusted accordingly.

External Examiners

External Examiners are typically academics from other universities, but may also be from industry, business or the relevant profession depending on the requirements of the course. They give an impartial view of the course and independent advice to ensure that courses at the University meet the academic standards expected across UK higher education. External Examiners write reports on the courses and modules they are responsible for which are made available to you via your department. Unless the External Examiner has been specifically sent work to arbitrate on a dispute between internal markers, the External Examiner’s role will in assessment will be as a moderator. You can find the name and institution of the External Examiner for your course and modules by looking on the Programme Specifications Catalogue and the Module Directory: www.essex.ac.uk/modules/.

You can find out more about how the University uses External Examiners here:

www.essex.ac.uk/quality/external_examiners/default.asp
Please note: you may not contact External Examiners directly under any circumstances. If you have any concerns about the quality and standards of your course, please contact your Student Representative, your Head of Department, or the Students’ Union.

Second marking
Second marking is where a second marker marks the work but has access to the first marker’s marks and/or comments. Where two members of staff are involved in marking a piece of work, the markers should make every effort to agree a mark, rather than merely averaging the two marks. Departments keep a full record of both individual and agreed marks for all work which is second marked.

Anonymous marking
Anonymous marking is when your work is marked anonymously, i.e. your name is not attached to the piece of work for marking.

Where it is practical to do so, all coursework which contributes to your final module mark should be marked anonymously. Where this is not possible, departments will inform you in advance of the assessment task.

All formal examinations at the University of Essex are marked anonymously. You will be provided with a candidate number on your exam entry form. This will be in large print in the centre of the page. This is the number you should write on your examination scripts. It is important that you do this so we can, once the paper has been marked, allocate the marks to your record correctly.

Re-marking of coursework
You may, under certain circumstances, have the right to request a re-mark of your coursework. Should you feel that your work needs to be reviewed and potentially re-marked, you should first contact your department to advise you accordingly and assess whether you meet the criteria to be able to submit a request for re-marking.

The re-marking of work is included within the University’s Marking Policy can be found here: www.essex.ac.uk/quality/university_policies/examination_and_assessment/marking_policy.

In order to make a request, you will need to complete a form. By submitting your work for re-marking, your marks are not guaranteed to increase, but the mark awarded after re-marking will override your original mark. Therefore, please be aware that in all incidences where coursework is re-marked, it is possible that your marks could go down, as well as up.

Progression to the Dissertation
Students are required to complete their coursework before proceeding to the dissertation. To be allowed to proceed to the dissertation three out of the five modules must be passed. Failure with a mark of 40 or more for up to 40 credits in non-core taught modules will be condoned provided the overall weight average for the taught module is 50. Students who do not meet this requirement will not be permitted to proceed to the dissertation.

Students who have failed any taught module may have a second attempt for module(s) that have been failed, up to a maximum of 40 taught module credits. The maximum mark that may be recorded for a module as a result of a second attempt is 50.

Please see the PGT rules of assessment which are published on the web for further details relating to progression, awards and reassessment opportunities.
Appeals

Appeals on academic grounds can be made following the meeting of the Board of Examiners and the publication of your results. There are limited grounds available to appeal on and strict deadlines to adhere to. As such, we strongly advise all students thinking about making an appeal to contact the SU Advice Centre.

More information about appeals, including the deadlines and forms to complete, can be found online at: www.essex.ac.uk/see/appeals

Extenuating Circumstances

Extenuating circumstances are circumstances beyond your control which cause you to perform to less of a standard in your coursework or examinations than you might have expected, or in some instances, may prevent you from submitting coursework or attending an exam entirely. In general, valid extenuating circumstances will be of medical or personal natures that affect you for any significant period of time and/or during assessment.

Your department will review your claim at an Extenuating Circumstances Committee and determine whether it will be accepted or rejected. The Board of Examiners will determine an appropriate course of action and the corresponding methods, to take into account your extenuating circumstances, if appropriate, such as permitting further reassessment opportunities for uncapped marks. Please note that extra marks cannot be given in light of extenuating circumstances.

If you do need to make an extenuating circumstances claim, you should first read the guidance very carefully and seek advice from SU Advice (www.essex.su/advice) or the Student Services Hub (www.essex.ac.uk/students/contact/default.aspx). Please be prepared that you may need to include supporting evidence with your claim. Extenuating circumstance claims must be submitted via MyEssex by the appropriate deadline noted.

https://www1.essex.ac.uk/myessex/ExtenuatingCircumstancesHome.aspx

Further information and the full Extenuating Circumstances Policy can be found on the website: https://www1.essex.ac.uk/students/exams-and-coursework/ext-circ.aspx

Feedback

Feedback will be returned via FASER unless otherwise stated.
Taught MA Dissertations
The dissertation is a very important part of an MA course. In all MA courses students are required to take the module HR935 Research Methods in History. This module helps with preparation for the dissertation. It makes sense to think about a topic at this early point in time and to discuss it with members of staff.

Commencing Work on the Dissertation
All full-time and part-time students are required to commence work on their dissertation during the spring term of their first year. Modular Study students are required to commence work on their dissertation during their penultimate year.

It is necessary that by the end of week 25 of the spring term of the relevant academic year all students must have:

1. decided and agreed a dissertation topic with the Graduate Director Taught;
2. agreed dates for supervision sessions over the spring and summer terms with their dissertation supervisor;
3. agreed the timetable for submission of draft chapters with their dissertation supervisor;
4. submitted a 1,500-word dissertation proposal to the History Department Office (Lisa Willis), unless their assessment for module HR935 is a proposal for their dissertation.

Dissertation Supervisors
At the beginning of the spring term the Graduate Director Taught will ask students to decide on their dissertation topic. Once decided, the Graduate Director Taught allocates a Dissertation Supervisor to each student. Dissertation supervisors allocated are normally History Department staff but where the subject is appropriate, staff from other departments may be invited as to act as supervisors.

Permission to Proceed to the Dissertation
To be allowed to proceed to the dissertation stage of the degree the majority of a student’s coursework must be marked at MA pass standard. Please refer to the Assessment Procedures for Taught Students section for more details. The formal decision as to whether to allow a student to proceed will be made at the Examinations Board meeting which takes place at the end of summer-term of each year or every final year. This meeting discusses whether the student has sufficient coursework marks and has submitted a dissertation proposal.

Word Length
Students will be asked to sign a declaration indicating the word length of their dissertation, which should not exceed 20,000 words. The word length refers to the text of the dissertation. Therefore it does not include appendices, bibliographies etc, or footnotes (provided that in the latter case the footnotes stand alone and thus do not form an intrinsic part of the argument of the dissertation). The Department reserves the right to return any dissertation, which is over the specified word length, for condensing.

Presentation
A useful publication is the MHRA Style Book, which is obtainable from the University Bookshop. A copy of this publication can also be borrowed from the History Department Office. The final version of your MA dissertation or research thesis should conform as strictly as possible to the guidelines laid down in this publication (London: Modern Humanities Research Association, 1981).
It is most important that your dissertation be correctly presented as follows:

- the Department will fund the printing of two final copies of the dissertation at the University’s Copy Shop on Square 4;
- set margins as follows: top and left = four centimetres; bottom and right = two centimetres;
- include a title page giving your name, the degree scheme title, the dissertation title, and year submitted;
- include a contents page;
- include a page with the following acknowledgement ‘I gratefully acknowledge the help of my supervisor in matters of style and substance’;
- quotations, footnotes, captions to illustrations, etc may be in single spacing;
- footnotes may be at the foot of the relevant page or placed at the end of the dissertation together with the bibliography and any appendices. For more specific information regarding referencing in footnotes and your bibliography please see sections below;
- you are reminded that it is ESSENTIAL to read through the dissertation after it has been typed to remove any typographical or other errors before submission;
- Once again, it is important to proofread and ask others to do so too.

Deadline for Submission

The University deadline for submitting MA dissertations is 12th September. If this falls on a weekend then submission must be on the Friday before the 12th.

In the case of students taking the MA on the basis of modular study, the dissertation should be submitted by 12th September in the final year of their degree, or in the fifth year succeeding, at the very latest.

Applying for an Extension

Requests for extensions must be made to the relevant Dean, in advance of the University deadline. Extensions going beyond this deadline can be given only by the Dean of Postgraduate Research and Education, on the recommendation of the Graduate Director Taught, and only in the case of (documented) illness or comparable personal emergency.

If you are granted an extension please let the History Office (Lisa Willis) know (in advance of the original deadline) by which date your dissertation will be submitted.

Submission of Dissertations

When you submit your dissertation please remember:

- To complete and submit a Submission of Dissertation form - please ask the administrative staff for this form.
- Two copies of the dissertation must be submitted in the specified form above.
- Please ensure that you forwarding address is up to date via your myEssex.

Marking of Dissertations

The dissertation is assessed by two internal examiners, one of which is normally the student’s supervisor, and then by the External Examiner. Marks are then considered by the Examination Board, which usually meets in Week 8. After this meeting, students will be asked to collect one copy of their dissertation, and the Department will retain one copy.
Resubmission of Dissertations
Re-submission of dissertations is only permitted in the following circumstances:

i. Either substantiated extenuating circumstances accepted at the discretion of the Board of Examiners; or

ii. Where the original mark awarded is at least 40 and the work required does not include any additional experimental or practical work.

Re-submission is subject to the following conditions:

i. A dissertation must normally be re-submitted within two months of the formal notification of permission to resubmit; in cases of extenuating circumstances, this may be extended to a maximum of twelve months;

ii. Permission to resubmit will not be given where the Board of Examiners judges that the work required would include additional experimental or practical work.

iii. A dissertation which has been re-submitted because of a marginal fail shall be awarded no more than the minimum pass mark; in the case of re-submissions because of extenuating circumstances, the full range of marks shall be available to examiners.

The Board of Examiners
The Board of Examiners meet at the end of the Summer Term and use the Rules of Assessment to determine whether:

- you can be awarded credit for the modules you have studied
- you have met the requirements to progress to the next stage of your course (if you are on a course which lasts more than one year)
- you have met the requirements to pass your course
- you are eligible to receive a merit or distinction

If it determined that you have not passed sufficient credits to progress to the next stage of study, or, for final year students, to graduate, the Board of Examiners will also determine:

- what reassessment you could be offered and when you can take it

Failure to pass
The following is only a summary of the key points. You should read the rules and make sure you understand them. If you need advice, ask your personal tutor, departmental administrator, or SU Advice.

If you fail your course you are not able to repeat it. The Rules of Assessment for Postgraduate Taught Awards only allow reassessment for up to a maximum of 60 credits worth of modules for taught masters degrees. The Board of Examiners will inform you if you are eligible for reassessment once it has considered your marks.

If you fail your dissertation you may be permitted by the Board of Examiners to resubmit your work, provided you meet the criteria as set out in the Rules of Assessment for Postgraduate Taught Awards. Alternatively, if you have obtained enough credits in your taught modules, you may be eligible for another award such as a postgraduate diploma or certificate.

Credit accumulation
You can decide if you want to accumulate credit by taking individual modules with the aim of achieving a postgraduate award; this is called Modular study. There are opportunities to achieve postgraduate awards through credit accumulation study in an increasing number of departments, as an alternative to standard full or part-time study. You can find more information on the 'Study by credit accumulation' webpages: www1.essex.ac.uk/quality/university_policies/credit-accumulation.asp

Individual modules can yield 15, 20, 30 or 40 credits depending upon which department you are studying in. Each award has a defined structure, normally consisting of a combination of core, compulsory and optional modules, and requires a specific volume of credit to be achieved:

- Graduate/Postgraduate Certificates - 60 credits (all taught module credits)
- Graduate/Postgraduate Diplomas - 120 credits (all taught module credits)
- Masters Courses - 180 credits (normally 120 credits of taught module credits and a 60 credit dissertation or equivalent)

Credit is awarded for successful completion of individual modules. Students taking a credit-accumulation route of study register for the separate modules individually and accumulate the required volume of credit for the relevant award, including the dissertation if necessary. You will be given a different registration number for each module.

The Rules of Assessment are different when you study individual modules; make sure you check the relevant Rules of Assessment for the award you're studying towards. You will have a maximum of six years to study (this is usually five years with a sixth year for a dissertation). We measure the six years from the first module you register on towards the award.

You can find out more information here: www.essex.ac.uk/students/exams-and-coursework/ppg/pgt/modular and you should talk to your tutors about fees, and applying accumulated credit towards an award.

Reassessment

You may only undertake reassessment if the Board of Examiners says that you may do so. If you have to take compulsory reassessment, whether coursework or examination, it is really important that you do this. If you do not, it is likely that you will be unable to progress with your studies at the University. The Board of Examiners will not consider permitting you to proceed carrying fails if you have not undertaken the required reassessment offered. Please be aware that reassessment in examinations and coursework carries a fee.

Reassessed modules are normally capped at the pass mark of 40% unless you have extenuating circumstances which are accepted by the Exam Board. Please be aware that reassessment in examinations and coursework carries a fee.

Notification of Results

After the meeting of the Examination Board, usually in week 38 (during the summer term) and in week 8 (during the autumn term), the results will be available. NB students are required to keep all assessed coursework until six months after the conferment of their degree.

Feedback

If you need to undertake any reassessment on a module, your department will provide you with written feedback on any elements being reassessed.

Exit Awards

If you are unsuccessful in achieving the number of credits required for the qualification for which you are registered, the Board of Examiners will consider whether you have sufficient credits to be awarded a lower award.

If you need further information, please see the Graduate Director Taught or the Senior Student Administrator.
Computers, Learning Technologies and your Information

Computers
Using a campus computer

If you need to use a computer on campus our computer labs are the perfect place to study or work. We also have group study pods which are ideal for group projects. You can find a full list of computers available to use on our website: https://www1.essex.ac.uk/it/labs/usage/. Many labs stay open until late and some are open 24/7. Labs may be booked for teaching, and so it is best to check availability first.

As part of your IT account at Essex, all students have full access to:

- Office 365
  Office 365 is an online version of the Microsoft Office suite of programmes. You can access these by logging into your account from anywhere, which means you can use Microsoft programmes from at home too.

- 1TB of OneDrive cloud storage space
  OneDrive lets you create, edit, and share documents online so you can access them from anywhere in the world and from any device.

- 1 GB of local storage
  This is known as your M: drive. You can only access this when logged onto a lab computer on campus. Go to ‘This PC’ and select the M: drive network. If you want to access documents saved here from your personal laptop, you will need to either save them in your OneDrive or transfer the documents in another secure method, such as via USB.

Student Voice
At the University of Essex, the views, ideas and feedback of our students are at the heart of what the University does. The time students take to offer feedback is hugely appreciated. This feedback, both positive and developmental, is used to help make short and longer term improvements, both to the experience of current students, but also for Essex students of the future. You can do this in a number of ways.

Student Representatives
You can contact (or volunteer to be) a student representative who represent the voice of fellow students in departmental Student Voice Groups (SVG) and other University level committees.

https://www.essexstudent.com/representation/
http://www.essex.ac.uk/quality/student_representation/student_rep.asp

Student Voice Groups
Student Voice Groups (SVGs), formerly known as Student Staff Liaison Committees (SSLCs), are made up of elected student representatives and members of staff. SVGs typically meet once per term and provide an accessible arena for students to discuss with staff issues connected to teaching, learning and student support. They also provide an opportunity for the academic department/school/centre to consult with students and receive feedback on new proposals.

https://www1.essex.ac.uk/quality/student_representation/SVGs.asp

Student Surveys
Student satisfaction surveys enable the University to gauge overall satisfaction amongst students. When the results have been reviewed and analysed, the University can then enhance your experience of learning at Essex. The University participates in the Office for Students (OfS) PGT survey. You will be invited to participate via a link once it is open. It asks questions about your life at university and your experience studying at Essex.

Student Assessment of Module and Teaching
Every year, we will ask you to complete the Student Assessment of Module and Teaching (SAMT). This survey allows you to feedback on each of the modules you have studied. Receiving feedback at this level is critical for the University to understand what works well, and what could be improved, from the perspective of students. All feedback from SAMT will be summarised and discussed by SVGs and will inform reports written for central University committees as part of our quality assurance processes.

There are also many other satisfaction surveys taking place, to ensure students are happy with the services the University of Essex provides. From time to time you will be invited to participate via an email.

Residence Life
Our Residence Life team is here to help you settle in and support you during your time living on campus. Each residents’ assistant (RA) is assigned an area and will aim to get to know you and organise a range of social activities. Plus they can help if you’ve got any concerns or complaints. Residence Life operates outside of office hours when other University support services are closed.

Health and safety on campus
Our campuses are generally very safe environments. We want to ensure that things stay this way. In order to achieve this we work closely with local agencies including the police and borough councils. Take a look at our website for general advice and information:

www.essex.ac.uk/students/experience/safety.aspx

Please familiarise yourself with fire safety and emergency evacuation procedures for your accommodation, work or study location. If you have a permanent or temporary disability that may mean you have difficulty in evacuating one or more areas, you can arrange for a Personal Emergency Evacuation Plan (PEEP).

Please take note of our advice on the safe use of electrical items and prohibited electrical items in residential and non-residential areas.

You will find further health and safety information connected with your studies and life on our campuses in the Student Directory under health, safety and wellbeing.
If you have any health and safety concerns or need to report an incident, please do get in touch:

You Are Essex

Our University is committed to excellence in education, and to supporting your progression and achievement as an Essex student. Regular monitoring of student attendance allows us to identify any students who may need guidance or support, to help them to succeed in their studies. Your engagement with your programme of study is primarily measured by attendance, and completion of, and performance in, assessments, as appropriate.

We monitor attendance and will follow-up concerns about any student in accordance with the University’s Progress Procedures at: https://www.essex.ac.uk/about/governance/policies. As a student, if engagement in your studies, as measured by attendance and/or submission of assessed work, is unsatisfactory you’ll be contacted and offered guidance and support. If your progress causes concerns you’ll initially be contacted by your Personal Tutor, and then by the departmental progress officer. Where serious concerns persist, you may be referred to the Deputy Dean Education and your case formally considered by a Progress Committee.

Year and Degree Marks
As your studies draw to a close, and once your exam board has met, it takes up to five working days for your results to be confirmed. You will be sent an email to inform you when the results are live on a password protected web page. You will be able to see your marks obtained and any decisions that you must make in order to progress to the next stage of study.

When in your final year of study, graduating students will receive a degree certificate at Graduation and graduating undergraduate students also be able to access their electronic HEAR which gives details of all marks obtained during their studies.

Further information can be found at:
www.essex.ac.uk/students/graduation/award-documents/default.aspx

GradIntel
Postgraduate students do not currently have access to the Higher Education Achievement Record (HEAR); this is only available for undergraduate students. However, you can use GradIntel to record any extra-curricular activities you may be involved in through the Big Essex Awards but not full access to your academic achievements.

Graduation
The culmination of all your hard work, Graduation ceremonies take place at our Colchester Campus each July in the Ivor Crewe Lecture Hall. All eligible students studying at our Colchester, Loughton and Southend Campuses will be invited to attend. For more information visit our graduation pages:
www.essex.ac.uk/students/graduation/default.aspx

Issuing Degree Transcripts
A transcript detailing your final taught degree result will be provided after the Examination Board meeting (usually in week 8 during the autumn term) has taken place. Further copies can be obtained via myEssex.
Job References

Requesting references from members of staff
If you require a personal reference, always ask permission from a member of staff before giving their name as a referee. You should consider from whom it is most appropriate to request a reference and who will be best equipped to evidence your character and performance in the subject.

For example, final year project supervisors, year organisers, and core course supervisors are likely to be more suitable than lecturers that have taught you on a first-year option course. Every reasonable effort will be made to meet a request for reference for a student who has undertaken study within our Department. Requests received from students who have graduated from the University within the last three years will be prioritised. Requests received outside of this period may, of course, be met if a member of staff is equipped with the necessary information and is willing to provide a reference.

It is always helpful if you can provide the member of staff with details about the course or job you have applied for and, if relevant, a CV or other summary of your qualifications and experience. Please try to ask for references in good time – it is not always possible for a member of staff to write a reference immediately.

Copies of references
A copy of any reference provided will be retained within our department for no longer than three years for taught students.
