The instructions below step you through these options from the 'landing page' in exploring all aspects of the Drum Cussac information. There is also an explanation for the risk rating scores that you will see have been applied (also referred to as Threat Scale References or Threat Levels) which are allocated under 5 key headings or risk areas:

- Environmental
- Infrastructural
- Medical
- Political
- Security

Headings previously set out in the University's Risk Assessment for Overseas Travel of:- Crime, Terrorism, Conflict, Kidnap, Civil unrest and Corruption are now incorporated within the 5 key headings above, (see more on page 8 below about categories within each of these 5 headings).

Each heading criteria has an assigned risk rating score between 1 (Negligible) and 5 (Extreme) with the criteria in reaching the score laid out in the table below:-

Threat Scale Reference

Threat Level	Implication
1 - Negligible	The threat poses no discernible risk to travellers and warrants no particular security measures.
2 - Low	The threat poses only limited risk to travellers and is manageable within routine precautions.
3 - Moderate	The threat to travellers is credible and warrants management review and planning.
4 - High	The threat to travellers is serious and detailed security measures are required.
5 - Extreme	The threat to travellers is pervasive and renders the trip unfeasible.

In selecting the Travel Advice option an alphabetical listing of all countries is displayed with the appropriate risk ratings / threat levels shown in the associated row under each of the 5 key headings (risk areas).

From the landing page screen below you can search for information by using the Map function. For example typing in Thailand or Bangkok in the search box will give you country or city specific information under 5 headings with an overall risk rating allocation.

The screenshot shows the 'MAP function' interface. On the left, a world map displays various risk levels across different regions, indicated by colored circles. On the right, a filter panel is visible with the following settings:

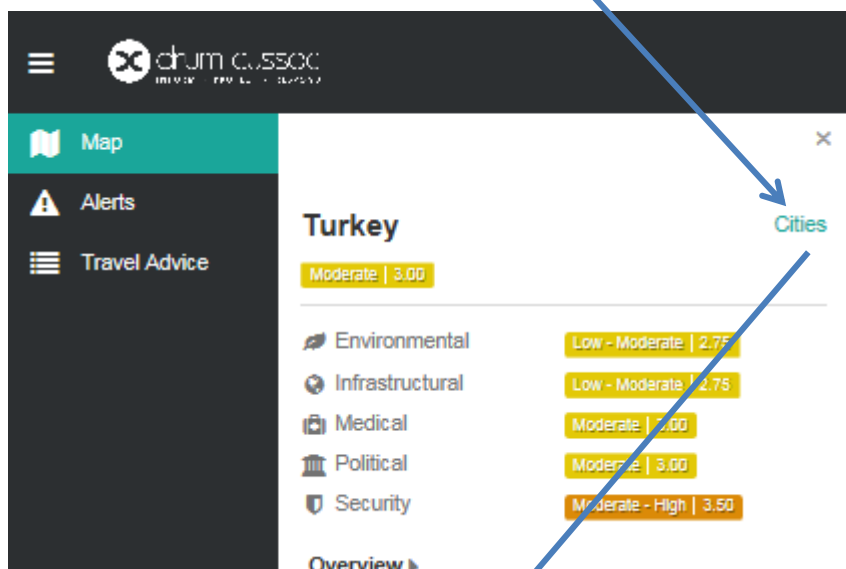

- Risk Overlays
- Risk Category: Political
- Alerts (0)
- Minimum Severity: Moderate
- Categories: Disease
- Time (Range): Now, Today, Date range (29 Oct '18 00:00 - 29 Oct '18 23:59)
- Buttons: Reset filters, Filter results list

This can be made specific to the time frame of your choice i.e. either Now or a date range.

You will need to check any city destination(s) that you are visiting as well as the overall country risk rating. This is because each city also has a risk rating on the 1-5 scale and there may be elements where the assessed risk in a city has a different rating to the overall risk rating for the country. Where this is the case, (for instance the overall country risk rating for Turkey shown in the images below is 3.00 – Moderate but the city of Diyarbakir is risk rated at 3.75 Moderate – High under the security assessment), whichever rating score is the highest will be the rating taken for your risk assessment evaluation (so in the Turkey example the risk rating of 3.75 would apply).

To complete a check on any cities the Cities link is to be found to the right of the country identification

Once selected a listing for all cities becomes accessible for checking.

Selection of the Alerts option brings up a current listing of events (alerts) that have taken place in each of the countries. These are listed with the status of the alert and its duration – dates from and to are shown. Within the Alerts function further searches can be conducted specific to a city or a particular country of interest with additional filtering to determine either broad or closely defined threat categories.

ALERTS

The screenshot shows the Alerts interface with a sidebar on the left containing 'Map', 'Alerts', and 'Travel Advice'. The main area displays a table of alerts with columns for Status, Active from, Active to, Countries, Title, Severity, and Categories. An inset shows the same interface with 'bangkok' entered in the search field, filtering the results to Bangkok-related events.

e-mail alerts set up from Drum Cussac on your selected countries/regions or set up for In-App Push notifications

Once you have registered with your U of E email address and set up a password, and Login. From the drop down under your name (top right) select the My Account tab which brings you onto the notifications settings tab shown below.

You can request e-mail notifications or In-App Push Notifications

The screenshot displays the 'My Account' notification settings interface. At the top, there are tabs for 'Notification Settings' and 'Change Password'. Below this, users can set 'Receive daily emails at' (09:00) and 'Receive live notifications by' (Email and In-App Push Notifications). A list of countries is shown, with 'Afghanistan' selected. There are buttons for 'Add Selected Countries' and 'Add Selected Regions'. At the bottom, there are dropdown menus for 'Live Min Severity - all countries' and 'Daily Min Severity - all countries'.

You can make a selection of countries or regions and risk rating alert levels for each.

You can select the time of day that you wish to receive the notifications and then the risk rating criteria that you wish to receive – so you will only be notified when the rating you have selected is reached or exceeded. Alternatively you may opt to receive a daily update.

If you want to receive for all countries covered then this can be achieved by selecting the drop down options at the bottom of the screen rather than selecting each separately in the alphabetical listing.
